Alba (Scotland): Past and present

State of Gàidhlig in 1891:

The communities in question were thoroughly Gàidhlig-speaking apart from a small group of “Lowland” households near the farm of Baile na Cille (Balnakeil) and the family of the local minister.

Besides a handful of monolingual Gàidhlig-speakers the vast majority of usually resident persons was bilingual at least on the census sheets.

Almost universally Gàidhlig-speaking were the crofting hamlets of Achaidhean (Achins), Baile Mhùirlaich (Balvorlich) and Diùirnis (Durness) itself.

Area description:

This fact-sheet is concerned with some small communities on the north-western coast of the Scottish mainland. The whole area east of Am Parbh (Cape Wrath) was part of the county of Cataibh (Sutherland).

The tiny communities around the hamlet of Diùirinis (Durness) were mostly occupied with crofting. A notable exception was the farm at Baile na Cille (Balnakeil) which was in the hands of Lowlanders at the time.

Background of Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Profiles:

The 1891 census was the first such enumeration exercise with an unequivocal language question. After more than 100 years the original census forms are publicly available for detailed analysis. During research concerned with the “Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Studies” a vast number of such local statistics have been gathered about the Gàidhlig speaking population of Scotland in that year. As many of these results could not be included in the reports these concise fact-sheets are a welcome way to publish some of the “local gems”. Area: Diùrnis (Durness): Baile na Cille, Achaidhean, An Glib, Baile Mhùirlaich & Diùrnis

Place of birth and Gàidhlig speaking:

Most English monoglot inhabitants had a birthplace outside the Gaidhealtachd. Inhabitants born nearby were almost exclusively Gàidhlig-speaking.

Notes:

¹ Born either in Durness or in the adjacent parishes of Tongue, Eddrachillis, Farr and Lairg (all Sutherland).

² Born in other parishes of Scotland with more than 50 % Gàidhlig speakers in the 1891 census.

Speakers according to place of birth (1) nearby¹ (2) in remaining *Gaidhealtachd*², or (3) elsewhere

Remarks

1. Only six inhabitants spoke Gàidhlig but not English. Three of them were small children and the remaining monoglot speakers were part of the older generation.
2. In total 23 persons of the usually resident population spoke no Gàidhlig. 21 of these English monoglots were found in four households at An Glib (Glebe) and Baile na Cille (Balnakeil). Household heads involved were the parish minister, a farm manager (born in Carstairs, Lanark), a farmer (born in Kilmarnock) and a miller (born in Prestonpans). Outside these families Gàidhlig was spoken almost universally.
3. Official census figures reported 212 bilingual inhabitants and 8 monolingual Gàidhlig-speakers out of a total population of 254 persons (86.6 %). The usually resident population on the other hand consisted of 214 Gàidhlig-speakers (90.3 %) including six persons “with no Gaelic”.
